

What Causes Stress?

Stress begins by producing an alarm response in the body, which if not managed by the body's own natural resources, can lead to development of an adaptation response. If stress is not resolved, symptoms appear. Imbalances usually begin at the cell level, progress to tissue and organ levels and may involve whole systems.

Stress may result from a large number of factors including:

- Thoughts of self-doubt that block perceptual awareness
- Nutritional deficiencies
- Inadequate intake of water or oxygen
- Toxic stress factors such as fungus, bacteria, viruses and chemical agents
- The presence of heavy metals
- Prescription drugs or other synthetic compounds
- Geopathic stressors such as parasites or allergens
- Genetic predisposition
- Bio-field contamination from radiation, microwaves and ELF's

The L.I.F.E. System

The LIFE System is an evoked potential biofeedback device used by professionals and consumers in achieving Stress Management, and Energetic Balance.

The L.I.F.E. System is a complete unit containing a program CD, user manual, an interface box with the latest safety isolation components, a harness system, a medically approved surge protector, power supply and charger. Please note: Free training is included with every purchase. A computer is not included.

The cost of the NEW SOUND and LIGHT LIFE SYSTEM is $14,999.

The HEB Harmonic Energy Balancing Program is $2,200. It was designed to be used with the LIFE System by providing ongoing client frequency feedback 24/7 via holographic imaging.

Windows XP is the necessary operating system (Vista compatible). A Pentium 4 Processor operating at 1.5 Ghz with 512 megabytes of RAM and ample hard drive capacity is recommended. A USB port is necessary for the NEW system and 25 pin parallel for the basic system.

All components are warranted for one full year against manufacturing defects. Free technical support is provided, for 90 days following delivery, and pertain only to the L.I.F.E. System, not Windows systems.

Living Information Systems is dedicated to producing the finest evoked potential Biofeedback and Stress Management device possible. Every component of the L.I.F.E. System has been compiled with the greatest degree of competency and integrity. Professionals and consumers interested in the exciting world of quantum science may use the system as a bridge between traditional healing approaches and energy medicine.

An evoked potential biofeedback device records subtle, “reactive,” informational “stress potentials” provided by the client during the assessment procedure. The computer evaluates such responses, and then challenges the individual with that information by feeding it back to the client. This process assists the body’s own natural defense mechanisms by encouraging energetic balance and harmony.

In designing the system, basic principles of energetic management, from ancient Chinese traditions, to the emerging field of Quantum Mechanics were considered. This gave rise to a perspective that a river of energy connects every organ, every thought and every emotion. The flow or blockage of energy reflects a profound system of communication that demonstrates the body/mind intelligence. The L.I.F.E. System seeks to create and integrate an environment of wellness, balance and harmony. The entire process is safe, gentle and non-invasive.
